

Toyota for Business

Women in Fleet

Scholarship – 2024 Academic Year

Diploma of Leadership and Management

Background

Toyota for Business are providing a unique opportunity for one (1) woman who would like to further their education in leadership and management. Management in the fleet and automotive industry has become a multi-faceted and globally recognised discipline requiring a more strategic approach to the management of an important corporate resource. With a portfolio in the millions of dollars and responsibility for a variety of management functions, it is increasingly important to understand and drive the factors that influence decisions so fleet and automotive professionals can meet the organisation's objectives. Fleet and automotive professionals can significantly lead and manage their team, customers and possess skills required for coaching strategies and frameworks to improve individual performance.

The program focuses on the everyday challenges and opportunities in managing their portfolios and teams, and provides effective leadership for their organisation. The Diploma of Leadership and Management is a highly practical and interactive program and has been designed to allow the individual to apply the new learnings directly back into the workplace.

Why a Scholarship?

Toyota for Business recognises the importance to support and provide opportunities to skilled women of the fleet and automotive industry. They have hence embraced the opportunity to offer annual scholarships for AfMA's Diploma of Leadership and Management.

AfMA acknowledges the need for the selection of the scholarship recipients to be impartial, therefore AfMA will independently decide the scholarship winner based on their detailed application and submission. Toyota for Business will not be involved in selecting the scholarship winner.
